PASTORS CONFERENCE
SESSION DESCRIPTIONS

Pastoral Care for Those Who Cohabit

Every pastor is challenged by couples who cohabit. The nature of this public sin afflicts the consciences of those engaging in this outward act of inward sin, as well as the consciences of parents, grandparents church members, congregational leaders and the pastor, as well. Consciences are burdened and there is need to confront worldly wisdom with confident Christian invitation to a "more excellent way. (Fleming)

GPS Essentials for Travel Through Demanding Conversations

Maintaining relationships throughout a conversational minefield is one of the things that most of us must confront whether we are pastors, principals or teachers. We've all responded to angry or challenging parents, students, or colleagues. Unfortunately, we don't always navigate with the confidence and tools that could be most helpful. This presentation will take a careful look at the anatomy of difficult conversations, outlining professional/pastoral strategies for maintaining control, respect and reducing our own anxieties- while working towards the best possible outcomes for the student, parent, parishioner or colleague. (Yahnke)

Pastoral Support for Families of Transgender Children

The need to support families of transgender children has become increasingly clear to pastors. This presentation explores how it is that pastors and parishes may be able to become places of refuge and support for family members. This presentation will include the review of case study, complete with resources that have been used effectively to create Christian support groups for family members. (Fleming)

Presenter Bios:

Rev. David Fleming is DOXOLOGY's Executive Director for Spiritual Care. He also remains part-time at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Grand Rapids, MI, where he has served as Senior Pastor from 1993-2019. He is a 1986 graduate of Concordia Theological Seminary, Ft. Wayne, IN. And, he serves on the Concordia University Wisconsin Board of Regents. Pastor Fleming is an often requested presenter for district and regional conferences, Lutheran Worship conferences and has served missionaries and pastors throughout the US and the world. He has authored a variety of articles and the Concordia Publishing House Advent resource, "God Loves me Dearly." He LOVES teachers! Fleming and his (teacher) wife, Marie, Nee Wunderlich, have three children and three granddaughters.

Dr. Beverly K. Yahnke is a clinical psychologist serving as the Executive Director of Christian Counsel for DOXOLOGY. During her 25 years in private clinical practice, she provided care for church workers and their families. She has also served as Department Chair and Professor of Psychology at Concordia University Wisconsin where she was named "Faculty Laureate". Most recently, her work with DOXOLOGY has focused on providing pastors, teachers, and church workers with opportunities for renewal and advanced training. Dr. Yahnke has written numerous articles about psychology, education, and faith, and is a frequently invited speaker for clergy and educator conferences. She also serves on the Board of Regents of Concordia Theological Seminary in Ft. Wayne, Indiana.
